

Home » Help » How To Add A "Read More..." Link

How To Add A "Read More..." Link

25 July 2012

If you have a long article, you might like to break it up so that your folders and RSS feeds only show the leader of the article with a "Read More..." link.

We've made it easier for you to do this now so all you need to do is insert a Horizontal Rule () where you want the article to be split.

You'll see a dotted line in the editor like the one below.

- What secondary keywords should you be using on your website and in your articles?
- Which keywords should you invest in for the highest return on investment (ROI)?

If you can't answer these questions, we can.

The dotted line only appears when you are editing

That's all there is to it!

Your folders and RSS feeds will now automatically add the Read More... link. You can also use this method editing folders to separate the folder header and footer.