Free Support Forum Online

By Roger Keays, 5 February 2009

Dear subscribers,

We know you have lots of questions relating to the Web, the Internet and our products, so we've set up a free forum for you on our website. Please feel free to drop by and ask us any questions you have.

For existing customers, this is a good way to get some free support and if you need more personal attention you can still email us for paid support. For prospective customers, we hope to be able to answer whatever questions you have to help you get what you need at the best possible price.
