Server Load and Uptime Info Pages

3 May 2011

In our ongoing effort to improve the reliability of our services, we have made our server monitoring statistics. You can now see our server load and uptime statistics in real time on our website. We have also increased our server monitoring frequency to one minute. That means if there is an outage longer than one minute we will be aware of it and can fix it before it escalates.

- view the server status and response time

In combination with our new daily external backups your data and service is now more resilient than ever. We have also been working hard under the hood improving our software and systems performance. Stay tuned for more good things to come.

Roger
